

The Drought in Florida

There once was a drought in Tallahassee Florida on April 11 2006. The Drought lasted for about 124 weeks long! This drought is known for the longest drought yet. The worst part of the drought was the week of February 27, 2001. The drought ended August 19, 2008

The people that suffered through that drought were, farmers gardenist and people who use water everyday in life. It made farmers suffer because farmers need water to grow crops. It made gardenist's upset because they have a job with gardening. It made people suffer because they need water to live! You can't live more then a week without water.

It started by people wasting water. People usually wasted water because it wasn't really important to them. They didn't understand that it was wasting until they had no water left. Its also because it didn't rain much. Also it gets hot so it drys up the water.
